

Privacy Policy

Protecting your private information is our priority. This Privacy Policy applies to <https://www.updoctors.com/> and United Physicians, Inc. and governs data collection and usage. For the purposes of this Privacy Policy, unless otherwise noted, all references to United Physicians include <https://www.updoctors.com/>, United Physicians, Inc., and "UP." The United Physicians website is a company information site. By using the United Physicians website, you consent to the data practices described in this statement.

Collection of your Personal Information

In order to better provide you with products and services offered, United Physicians may collect personally identifiable information, such as your:

- First and Last Name
- Email Address
- Phone Number

We do not collect any personal information about you unless you voluntarily provide it to us. However, you may be required to provide certain personal information to us when you elect to use certain products or services. These may include, but are not limited to: (a) registering for an account; or (b) sending us an email message. We will use your information for, but not limited to, communicating with you in relation to services and/or products you have requested from us. We also may gather additional personal or non-personal information in the future.

Use of your Personal Information

United Physicians collects and uses your personal information to operate and deliver the services you have requested. United Physicians may also use your personally identifiable information to inform you of other products or services available from United Physicians and its affiliates.

Sharing Information with Third Parties

United Physicians does not sell, rent, or lease its customer lists to third parties.

United Physicians may share data with trusted partners to help perform statistical analysis, send you email or postal mail, provide customer support, or arrange for deliveries. All such third parties are prohibited from using your personal information except to provide these services to United Physicians, and they are required to maintain the confidentiality of your information.

United Physicians may disclose your personal information, without notice, if required to do so by law or in the good faith belief that such action is necessary to: (a) conform to the edicts of the law or comply with legal process served on United Physicians or the site; (b) protect and defend the rights or property of United Physicians; and/or (c) act under exigent circumstances to protect the personal safety of users of United Physicians, or the public.

Automatically Collected Information

Information about your computer hardware and software may be automatically collected by United Physicians. This information can include: your IP address, browser type, domain names, access times, and referring website addresses. This information is used for the operation of the service, to maintain quality of the service, and to provide general statistics regarding use of the United Physicians website.

Use of Cookies

The United Physicians website may use "cookies" to help you personalize your online experience. A cookie is a text file that is placed on your hard disk by a web page server. Cookies cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer. Cookies are uniquely assigned to you and can only be read by a web server in the domain that issued the cookie to you.

One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. The purpose of a cookie is to tell the Web server that you have returned to a specific page. For example, if you personalize United Physicians pages, or register with United Physicians site or services, a cookie helps United Physicians to recall your specific information on subsequent visits. This simplifies the process of recording your personal information, such as billing addresses, shipping addresses, and so on. When you return to the same United Physicians website, the information you previously provided can be retrieved, so you can easily use the United Physicians features that you customized.

You have the ability to accept or decline some or all cookies. Additionally, you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. If you choose to decline cookies, you may not be able to fully experience the interactive features of the United Physicians services or websites you visit.

Security of your Personal Information

United Physicians secures your personal information from unauthorized access, use, or disclosure. United Physicians uses the following methods for this purpose:

- SSL Protocol

When personal information (such as a credit card number) is transmitted to other websites, it is protected through the use of encryption, such as the Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) protocol.

We strive to take appropriate security measures to protect against unauthorized access to or alteration of your personal information. Unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet or any wireless network can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your personal information, you acknowledge that: (a) there are security and privacy limitations inherent to the Internet which are beyond our control; and (b) security, integrity, and privacy of any and all information and data exchanged between you and us through this Site cannot be guaranteed.

Right to Deletion

Subject to certain exceptions set out below, on receipt of a verifiable request from you, we will:

- Delete your personal information from our records; and
- Direct any service providers to delete your personal information from their records.

Please note that we may not be able to comply with requests to delete your personal information if it is necessary to:

- Complete the transaction for which the personal information was collected, fulfill the terms of a written warranty or product recall conducted in accordance with federal law, provide a good or service requested by you, or reasonably anticipated within the context of our ongoing business relationship with you, or otherwise perform a contract between you and us;
- Detect security incidents, protect against malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal activity; or prosecute those responsible for that activity;
- Debug to identify and repair errors that impair existing intended functionality;
- Exercise free speech, ensure the right of another consumer to exercise his or her right of free speech, or exercise another right provided for by law;

- Comply with applicable local, state, or federal privacy laws or other existing legal obligations;
- Engage in public or peer-reviewed scientific, historical, or statistical research in the public interest that adheres to all other applicable ethics and privacy laws, when our deletion of the information is likely to render impossible or seriously impair the achievement of such research, provided we have obtained your informed consent;
- Enable solely internal uses that are reasonably aligned with your expectations based on your relationship with us; or
- Otherwise use your personal information, internally, in a lawful manner that is compatible with the context in which you provided the information.

Children Under Thirteen

United Physicians does not knowingly collect personally identifiable information from children under the age of thirteen. If you are under the age of thirteen, you must ask your parent or guardian for permission to use this website.

E-mail Communications

From time to time, United Physicians may contact you via email for the purpose of providing announcements, promotional offers, alerts, confirmations, surveys, and/or other general communication. In order to improve our Services, we may receive a notification when you open an email from United Physicians or click on a link therein.

If you would like to stop receiving marketing or promotional communications via email from United Physicians, you may opt out of such communications by clicking the unsubscribe button in the email.

External Data Storage Sites

We may store your data on servers provided by third party hosting vendors with whom we have contracted.

Changes to this Statement

United Physicians reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy from time to time. We will notify you about significant changes in the way we treat personal information by sending a notice to the primary email address specified in your account, by placing a prominent notice on our website, or by updating any privacy information. Your continued use of the website and/or Services available after such modifications will constitute your: (a) acknowledgment of the modified Privacy Policy; and (b) agreement to abide and be bound by that Policy.
